

Figure 1: Open-query extraction selects the candidate span most similar to the requested type description.